

Art at Lasan

Lasan was just as enjoyable as last year, if not more, but I will always prefer Art class. It was only on Mondays and Tuesdays, but it was great anyway.

As I said, art was fun, but my favorite projects were the friendship bracelets. The first bracelet that they taught us were easier said than done, and mine looked like a stick tangled in colored string. My friend, Aline, made it properly and it looked really nice. The second time though, when we got to do any type of bracelet we wanted, I made it look appealing, or at least better than the first one.

I also thought making the string of paper cranes was a cool experience. I completely forgot how to make a crane, but Co Cecille, with the little remaining patience, taught me and now I make cranes out of everything!!! Somehow I did it wrong because when they strung my cranes, the hole at the bottom of my crane was too big, so all of my beautifully crafted birds fell to the bottom of the string. I don't know what I did wrong, but it was wrong either way. But in the end, Art class provided me with endless memories.

Art was certainly extraordinary this year. I can't wait for what's to come next time.
